

I want my home respected by the continuing of the do not call list. I believe I have the right to sit down and eat dinner without calls to try and sell me something. I do accept calls from family and friends and physicans that have important information for me. I do not need these calls confused with telephone (lets call them stalkers). I do not understand how when the majority of New Jerseyians requested the do not call list be in place how the rights of callers to bother you in your own home with your ~~~~~ purchased from (someone who hid the fact that your phone ~~~~~ would be sold in the first place) So, by getting rid of the do not call list you are saying that someones money can buy your phone~~~~~ and disturb you without your permission in your own home. exactly where is the phone owners rights. Sincerely someone who does not want to be called.
JoAnn Furno